Dear Mr. Medved,

Relet 30: have no idea when Post Mortem can or will be published. I cannot go further into debt to print privately. It is one of several limited editions I have completed.

I do not know the answer to your Kilgallen testimony question.

Penn Jones, Midlothian, Texas, did have copies of the DCA film. Total cost, including shipping, about $30. Send him a check with order to save him and you work and time and cost.

For the Connally X-rays, try Dr. James Rhoads, Archivist of the US, Washington, D.C., including a check to the General Services Administration for $1.25 per 8x10 glossy. Be certain, however, that he does not photograph xeroxes for you. I do not know whether they can or will make film copies of X-rays. If you want xeroxes, the cost is 10¢ per.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
